ROYAL WEDDING—Ex-King Mihai and Princess Anne were united in marriage today in Athens, Greece.

Royal Wedding Joins King Mihai, Princess

ATHENS—(INS)—Athens thrilled momentarily today to a bit of old world romance when Romania's King Mihai (Michael) took Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma as his bride.

Private as the marriage was in the royal palace of Athens where the youthful couple was joined in wedlock by Archbishop Damaskinos the pageantry of the ceremony was reflected in the somber streets of the Greek capital.

Inside the palace, the 24-year-old French and Danish princess was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Prince Eric of Denmark.

Anne's gown was of rose-colored embroidered tulle, with matching veil and an 11-foot long train which was carried by three pages.

Mihai, whose best man was his uncle, King Paul of Greece, was attired in the uniform of a Romanian general.

Deputy Premier Constantine Tsaldaris represented the Greek government at the ceremony performed in accordance with the rites of the Greek Orthodox church.

During the ceremony a royal guard of mountain troops, wearing the traditional gold-embroidered skirted uniforms, lined the throne hall and maintained a strict security guard outside the palace.

GIVEN TITLE OF QUEEN

The title of queen was bestowed on Anne since Mihai has repudiated his earlier abdication of the throne. After he quit Romania under communist threats, Mihai declared that he signed his abdication under duress and therefore remained rightful monarch.

Prince Eric of Denmark, who gave Anne away, was her only relative at the ceremony.

The marriage culminates a romance which started when the 26-year-old Mihai met Anne last November in London where both attended the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

Early this year there was a multitude of reports, concerning the imminent marriage of the couple. Every reported meeting started guessing as to when the couple actually would be wed.

Anne is a Roman Catholic, but decided to go ahead with the marriage even though it will not be recognized by the church of Rome.

Two Trains In Accident

LAUREL, Md. —(AP)— One person was killed when a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train jumped the track and another plowed into the wreckage on the main line midway between Washington and Baltimore today.

First reports from the scene said 15 were injured, some of them seriously.

The train which first left the tracks was the east-bound Diplomat, which runs from St. Louis to New York. A west-bound New York to Washington local piled into the wreckage a few moments later.

Rural Life Contract Let For House

Four-Room Home To Cost $7,400

A contract for building a four-room home for Floyd Reding and his sister, Miss Bertha Reding, on the Rural Life Center, Weller township, was awarded yesterday to Floyd Mellick, Shiloh, R. D. 1.

Mellick's bid of approximately $7,400 was the lowest of three bids, Thomas J. Shepard, president of the Center, said today.

Work will be started by July 1. The house will be erected at the corner of Craul road and the lane leading to the 80-acre farm homestead. It probably will be completed by Oct. 1.

The new home will be built as a part of the contract for purchase of the farm. When it is completed, the Center will take over the 75-year-old Reding homestead, about a mile back from Craul road, as administration offices. The nearby barn will be remodeled as a dining and recreation hall.

A two-car garage also will be erected for use of the Redings. Labor for the building of the garage will be provided by members of the Mifflin Livestock club, a 4-H group.

Funds for the Center stand today at more than $5,000, Shepard said, adding that contributions ranging from $25 to $100 have come in daily.

"We feel sure that we will have the entire $7,400 for the house by the time it is completed, if the present rate of contributions keeps up," he said.

Anti-Truman Front Broken By FDR, Jr.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Franklin D. Roosevelt jr., has broken his famous family's anti-Truman front.

If President Truman is nominated to head the Democratic ticket next July in Philadelphia, FDR, jr., will support him and the party platform. He stated his position this week in an address in Westchester county, N. Y.

Yesterday he stepped over to Asbury Park, N. J., and in a speech before the AFL American Federation of Musicians roughed up the Republican Congress and its leaders as though he already were stumping for Mr. Truman's election.

"I am and shall remain a Democrat," young Roosevelt said in Westchester. "I shall support the candidates, program and decisions of the Democratic party."

Permission Asked To Open Casket

AKRON —(INS)— Parents of a suburban Cuyahoga Heights soldier killed in World War II sought court permission today to open their son's casket and establish his identity.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peterson, filed a petition for the order in Summit county common pleas court. A regulation of the Ohio Public Health council forbids the opening of any hermetically sealed coffin shipped into the state except on a court order.

Cabinet Member Since '45

Schwellenbach's Death Sudden

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach died today at Walter Reed Army hospital at the age of 53. The official cause of death was attributed to heart failure.

But associates in the labor department considered that he literally worked himself to death.

His health had been failing since 1946, but he pushed himself unrelentingly in the midst of one of the worst periods of labor-management strife in the nation's history.

The former lawyer, federal judge and U. S. senator from Washington state died at 3:40 a. m. (EST) — thirteen days after he entered the Army hospital. His wife, the former Anne Duffy, was at his bedside. Only several hours before his death, President Truman himself telephoned the hospital from the west coast to inquire about his condition.

Schwellenbach

Mr. Truman was informed early today of Schwellenbach's death.

"I have heard with deepest grief of the death of Lewis Schwellenbach," Mr. Truman said in a statement released by the White House. "He was my warm personal friend. He was a great senator, a great judge and a great secretary of labor."

Funeral arrangements have not yet been decided.

Schwellenbach, born in Superior, Wis., on Sept. 20, 1894, of humble parents, became secretary of labor July 1, 1945, when the postwar labor-management troubles began to grow.

There was no immediate indication who would be named Schwellenbach's successor. Schwellenbach himself succeeded Frances Perkins.

Assistant Secretary John Gibson has been acting secretary in the absence of Undersecretary David A. Morse, who is in San Francisco for an international labor organization meeting.

Besides his wife, the secretary also leaves his mother, Mrs. Martha Schwellenbach of Seattle, two brothers—State Supreme Court Judge E. W. Schwellenbach of Olympia, Wash., and C. H. Schwellenbach of Seattle—and three nephews, Baxter Schwellenbach, a law student and radio announcer here, and Capt. Tom Schwellenbach and Lt. C. B. Schwellenbach, both of the air force.

Lewis Truce Offer Flayed

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Soft coal operators today called John L. Lewis' offer of a coal mine truce "premature."

But both industry and government labor officials were optimistic about chances for settlement of the coal wage dispute without a strike.

They said they are convinced the United Mine Workers' boss does not want to strike June 30 when the present agreement expires.

They hastened to explain, however, that this doesn't mean they don't expect a hard fight before Lewis finally accepts a contract. But operators hope to sign a new pact that will send the miners back to their jobs at the end of their annual 10-day vacation on July 6.

Their optimism was not shared by Chairman Fred A. Hartley (R-NJ) of the House labor committee. Hartley, co-author of the Taft-Hartley law, expressed fear that the act would not be enough to prevent a strike and said it would be "criminal" for Congress to adjourn while even a threat remained.

Church Leader Dies

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Dr. Philip Smead Bird, 61, nationally known Presbyterian church leader and organizer of the Cleveland Peace committee in 1940, died early today at a hospital.

Dr. Bird was pastor of the Church of the Covenant on the Western Reserve university campus.

Campaign Begins to Get Rough

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The political gloves came off today in the wake of President Truman's "worst Congress" blast and a Republican lawmaker's "poorest President" retort.

The long distance verbal slugfest showed every sign of turning the coming campaign into the roughest and toughest in years.

The name calling started at Spokane where Mr. Truman, openly bidding for votes on his western tour, lashed out anew at the GOP-controlled Congress.

He told a civic celebration that the people deserve more of the present Congress if they fail to vote in November.

Then, in an exchange with a Spokane reporter from the rear platform of his special train, the President caustically referred to the Chicago Tribune and the Spokane Spokesman-Review as "the worst in the United States."

Those papers, he added, "got just what you ought to have—you've got the worst Congress in the United States you've ever had."

There was no immediate comment from publishers of either paper.

REMARKS POINTED

But GOP Congress members struck back swiftly and pointedly.

"There are a lot of people," commented House Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana, "who think Mr. Truman is the poorest President we have had since George Washington was elected."

House Speaker Martin of Massachusetts added: "There are people who have said that about the President."

"That's mighty big talk coming from a small boy," said Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa)

Rep. Hope (R-Kas), chairman of the House agriculture committee, suggested that "the frigid reception which the President is receiving in the West seems to have driven him to some loose and irresponsible talk."

GOP Senators were somewhat more restrained in their public comment.

But Senator Wherry of Nebraska, acting majority leader, accused the President of playing "ward politics."

Troops Told To Hold Fire

(By Associated Press)

Arab and Jewish troops in Palestine were being ordered today to stop killing each other, effective at 1 a. m. (EST) Friday.

Only cautious optimism was expressed around the United Nations that the four-week armistice and arms embargo would endure. There was even less hope that, in four weeks of wrangling on the island of Rhodes, a formula for permanent peace would emerge.

It was difficult to see how the basic issue of partition could be resolved, short of armed intervention by the U.N.—and that might lead to even greater, worldwide conflict.

"We have achieved only the first step," Count Folke Bernadotte, the U.N. mediator, commented in Cairo on the unconditional acceptances of the truce by Israel and the seven warring Arab states.

Irgun Zvai Leumi, once the Jewish underground but now part of Israel's army, rebuked its own government for accepting the truce. It wanted all Arabs withdrawn from Palestine and said the truce terms would mean a deterioration of Israel's political and military status.

The outburst possibly is a prelude to Irgun defiance of the truce.

The Arabs have contended that Irgun and the even more extremist Sterns gang have broken past truce accords and that Haganah, now the army of Israel, has stepped in and consolidated the gains.

DEATH CALLED SUICIDE

NEW PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Dr. D. M. Ceramella, Tuscarawas county coroner has returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Henry Harvey, 74, an old age pensioner from nearby-by Strasburg, who stepped in front of a Cleveland-bound passenger train near his home yesterday.

Super-Sonic Barrier Penetrated

Experimental Plane Tops Speed of Sound

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Air Secretary Symington said today the Air Force research plane XS-1 several times has flown "much faster than the speed of sound."

Symington told a news conference that so far as he knows no other plane has achieved super-sonic speed, that is, faster than sound travels.

The first and only pilot to fly the XS-1 beyond the so-called sonic wall is Capt. Charles E. Yeager, 25, a fighter pilot who destroyed 13 German planes while serving with the air force.

Yeager, a native of Myra, W. Va., is a test pilot assigned to the Air Materiel command at Wright Field, Ohio.

The speed of sound is 762 miles an hour under standard conditions. Standard conditions are with a temperature of 59 degrees Fahrenheit at sea level.

Sound's speed of travel decreases as temperature drops. At 67 degrees below zero its speed is 662 miles an hour. This speed of sound increases as the temperature rises.

The XS-1 flies at very high altitude where the temperatures are lower with increasing height.

Therefore, the relative speed of the XS-1 when approaching the speed of sound would be only 662 miles an hour at the high altitudes.

That speed has been reached nearer ground level by the Douglas D-558 Skyrocket, a navy research plane powered with a conventional turbo-jet engine.

The Skyrocket, however, flew in relatively hot temperatures where the speed of sound is higher or more than 800 miles an hour. The Skyrocket thus avoided aerodynamic problems which are encountered under conditions flown by the XS-1.

The XS-1 has a wing span of 28 feet, a length of 31 feet and is 11 feet high. Its empty weight is 4,892 pounds, including more than 500 pounds of devices for measuring performance.

It carries 8,000 pounds of fuel for its rocket motor.

The plane was designed to reach 1,017 miles an hour at 40,000 feet and 1,700 miles an hour at 80,000 feet.

Buses Idle In 3 Cities

(By International News Service)

Bus strikes still plagued three major Ohio cities and inconvenienced thousands of travelers today.

Lorain, Springfield and Steubenville were still partially paralyzed by the walkouts. A partial settlement was reached in East Liverpool.

Only 30 taxicabs were available to supplement private means of transportation in Lorain after 70 AFL drivers walked off the jobs at the Employees Transit Lines, Inc.

At Springfield, a negotiating conference to end the four-day walkout there was scheduled for tonight.

In East Liverpool, 80 garage mechanics accepted a pay increase offer of 15 cents an hour, but the offer has not yet been accepted by striking AFL drivers for the Valley Motor Transit company.

Flood Toll Still a Mystery

335 Missing In Vanport

PORTLAND, Ore. — (UP) — The Red Cross said today that it was still unable to locate 335 residents of devastated Vanport city and that it was "deeply concerned over the disappearance" of 121 persons on the list.

The war-born housing project adjoining Portland was destroyed Memorial day when the Columbia river broke a dike and flooded the entire area within an hour.

Only four bodies have been recovered. One other person is known definitely to have been swept into the flood when another dike broke.

The Red Cross said it was especially worried about the 121 persons because close relatives had inquired for them.

"We are not yet ready to say that these people are 'missing' or lost in the Vanport disaster," said Maurice Reddy, Red Cross director of disaster operations in the Portland-Vanport city area, "because we have located some persons within the past few days.

"However, we are vitally concerned because of the close relationship of those seeking them."

The Red Cross apparently had made considerable headway in its efforts to locate Vanport city victims. Today's list of 335 persons still unlocated compared with a list of more than 700 issued two days ago.

Funds Can't Be Kicked Around

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins held today that public funds can not be legally spent for football equipment in schools' physical education programs.

His opinion went to the State Bureau of Inspection, which audits public school funds. The question originally was raised by J. H. O'Neill, principal of Maumee high school in Lucas county.

The equipment for most high school football teams is purchased with game gate receipts, which are not classed as public funds.

Final Draft Vote Slated By Senators

Approval Expected After Long Debate

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Harassed Senate Republican leaders finally steered the 19-through-25 draft bill toward showdown vote today after almost a week of furious debate.

The Senate agreed to begin voting by mid-afternoon on amendments to the controversial peacetime conscription measure and then on the bill itself. It is expected to pass.

The voting agreement was reached in the early hours this morning. It came after a 3½ hour session sparked by angry charges of "politics between Republicans and Democrats in this election year.

Republican leaders had counted on getting the draft measure on its way to the House last night, but the upper chamber's unlimited debate rules and long speeches on a bevy of amendments rubbed out their hopes. The session didn't end until 11:29 p. m. (EST).

Before acting on the bill that would put an estimated 200,000 men, 19-through-25, in uniform during the next year, the Senate worked on these amendments:

1. By Sen. W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel, (D-Tex.) to hold off the draft until Congress passes a law to "draft" all excess war contract profits.

2. By Sen. Burnet R. Maybank, (D-SC) to guarantee state jurisdiction over personnel policies of national guard units. It would, in effect, enable southern states to keep Negroes out of national guard units if they chose.

3. By Sen. Wayne L. Morse, (R-Ore.) to cut from two years to 18 months the time draftees would serve.

The Senate late yesterday rejected by voice vote an effort by Sen. George W. Malone, (R-Nev.) to tack universal military training onto the draft bill.

Wife Buyer Lacks 'Jack'

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — With no evidence of the $10,000 she has asked for marriage, Dorothy Lawlor's courtship by Danny Wicker was cooling today.

After spending yesterday afternoon by herself in a hotel here, she demanded of newsmen "who is this character, anyway," in referring to the Holly Hill bar proprietor who invited her here to talk over matrimony.

Other than the plane ticket and the hotel suite he rented for her, the 28-year-old divorcee said Wicker had not produced the slightest evidence of having the $10,000 she had specified as a precondition of marriage.

Hummel Appoints Will to Board

Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel today appointed James V. Will of Mansfield to the Richland county board of elections. He succeeds George Williams of Shelby, who died recently. Will is chairman of the Richland County Republican Central committee. He was endorsed for the election post Tuesday night by the county GOP executive committee.

2 Patients Escape Hospital

Drop 8 Feet From Tower

Four Mansfield reformatory inmates, including two hospital patients and two trusties serving as nurses, escaped early today by smashing their way through a bricked-up window in the institution hospital tower. They were still at large at noon.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said the youths fled shortly after 4 a. m., dropping eight feet to the ground on the Olivesburg road side of the institution. They went through an opening about 15 inches by two and a half feet. A heavy fog helped to hide their escape, the superintendent said.

Glattke said the fugitives were:

Charles Fetzer, 27, a patient received March 30, 1942, from Toledo, to serve one to 20 years for auto theft.

Louis Stanley, 31, New Orleans, a nurse, received Nov. 14, 1941, from Hancock county to serve one to 20 years for auto theft.

Albert Connors, 24, a patient, received July 3, 1946, from Cleveland to serve from 10 to 25 years for robbery.

Rudolph Limauro, 20, Lynn, Mass., a nurse, received Oct. 31, 1947, from Franklin county. He was serving from one to 20 years for auto theft.

Supt. Glattke said both patients were being held for observation, and were not seriously ill.

USE BREAST DRILL

He said a breast drill, believed to have been taken from one of the institution shops, was used to break out the mortar between the bricks.

The tower window through which the four fled formerly was barred. The opening later was filled with bricks. The tower is used for storage purposes.

The break was discovered by Guard Jerry Ritchy between 4:30 and 4:45 a. m. A state-wide alarm was broadcast while reformatory officials searched the surrounding area. Ritchy said he made a round of the hospital ward at 4 a. m.

The hospital is located about 400 feet from the Olivesburg road and is separated from the highway by a seven-foot barbed wire fence which the inmates are believed to have scaled.

Meanwhile, a 20-year-old reformatory escaper, captured in Tiffin yesterday with the stolen car of a Mansfielder, was returned to the Richland county jail today.

Deputy sheriffs said Robert R. Phillips, 20, of Tiffin, was apprehended yesterday at his home. The recovered car belongs to Mrs. Edith R. Hughes, 198 South Mulberry street. It was stolen at the airport. Phillips escaped Tuesday from the OSR cannery.

Sent to Pen In Robbery

Donald DeVere Bowman, 24, of Columbus, today was sentenced to 10 to 25 years in the Ohio penitentiary in the robbery of the Wade and Roberts restaurant at Orchard Park April 5.

Bowman was found guilty yesterday on an armed robbery charge by a jury of four men and eight women.

Wallace R. Black, 29, of Cleveland, arraigned on the same charge, today pleaded guilty before Common Pleas Court Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch. His trial had been set for today. He was placed on five years probation.

Testimony in the Bowman case was heard Tuesday and Wednesday. The jury deliberated one hour and 15 minutes before returning the verdict yesterday afternoon.

Black and Bowman were accused of taking $248 at the point of a gun, forcing patrons of the restaurant into a back room.

They were arrested 20 minutes later in Mt. Vernon.

Witnesses called by the state were Deputy Sheriff Foster Palmer, Veronica Black, wife of one of the defendants; Jack Harmon, Charles T. Caldwell, Walter Ink, Wilbur Wade jr. Norman Roberts, Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and Charles Keller.

Wallace Black was the only witness called by the defense.

Non-Swimmers Small Boats In Deep Water

Summer means swimming-time to millions of young Americans and to many older ones, too.

Judging by past swimming seasons, this summer also will mean the end of six or seven thousand American lives — mostly young lives. Last year 6,500 met death by drowning in the seas, lakes, ponds and waterways of the nation. Most of them need not have happened if simple rules of water safety had been learned and practiced.

The first step toward water safety is to learn to swim, and to swim well, according to John Watkins, aquatic expert of the Mansfield YMCA.

"Those who can't swim well should not only stay out of deep water, but should also stay out of canoes and other small craft that are likely to capsize," he says. "Non-swimmers and small boats form a deadly combination which is doubly lethal when mixed with deep water."

If you can't swim and you do go out in a small boat, try to cling to it, should it capsize.

"Most row boats or canoes will remain afloat even when turned over," Watkins explained. "If non-swimmers would hang on to them instead of frantically striking out for shore, not merely as many would drown."

He urged that children not be entrusted to water-wings or old tires in deep water or unguarded swimming pools. "They can lose the water-wings and slip off of old tires," he warned. "They should be encouraged—but not forced—to learn to swim, and they should learn in well-guarded pools under competent adult instruction."

Learn-to-swim classes now are under way at the YMCA. The Red Cross will start similar classes July 6.

Gets Reprieve At Zero Hour

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. — (INS) — Joseph Lee Saulter today still found it difficult to believe he did not have to die in the electric chair yesterday.

The Natchez, Miss., convict, sentenced to be executed for the fatal stabbing of Thelma Leslie on Feb. 24, 1947, won a last minute reprieve on the basis of another prisoner's confession that he had committed the crime of which Saulter had been convicted.

A short time ago, Saulter, apparently convinced that his case was hopeless, offered his eyes to a medical bank. The board of pardons and paroles received notice Monday that Cecil E. Barker, an inmate at the Retrieve State farm, Snipe, Tex., had admitted that he was guilty of the Galveston slaying last year.

Says Force Widens Rift In Palestine

Historian Advises Hands-off Policy

By HERBERT WILHOIT

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Military action will never solve the Palestine problem, in the opinion of Historian Harold A. Lamb.

That is because the Arab peoples will resist for generations, if necessary, the pressure of western influence behind development of a sovereign Jewish state, he said in an interview, just as they will resist any foreign state imposed by force.

On the other hand, Lamb believes the Arabs and Zionists could reach an amicable agreement for colonization by immigrants—if they are left to themselves to solve their problems.

"As long as you increase the foreign pressure, just that long you increase the cleavage and the impossibility of an Arab agreement," he said.

Author of numerous historical works including "the Crusades," Lamb spent two wartime years (1943-45) in the Middle East on confidential war department service.

Militarily, Lamb said, it has been found impossible from the time of the Crusades down through the ages to conquer the people of the Middle East by pushing in from a Holy Land coastal bridgehead to the interior, as might be necessary for an international army or police force if one were to attempt to enforce United Nations partition decrees.

Arab forces, if brought into the field in strength, would not necessarily employ tactics of regular armies—it wouldn't be necessary, because resistance can be carried on for years by guerrilla warfare.

The geography of the coast is such that the roads, running through gulleys, can easily be attacked or defended by comparative handfuls of riflemen operating from the heights.

Lamb summed up the situation this way:

"A civil war such as this could be the worst form of warfare, with raids by night upon villages, and a mounting toll of dead among non-combatants As for arms, the whole area is littered with the debris of the last war—trucks, rifles, and even planes.

"The Middle Easterners, who are also Turks, Kurds and Armenians, will endure no return to the rule by rifle. History has made that clear, from the time of the Crusades, the Napoleonic expedition, the Turkish reaction under Kemal Pasha at the end of the last war, and the resistance of the people of Syria and Lebanon to the French military push at the end of this war.

"What Anglo-American intervention can accomplish is to arrange a truce without military coercion."

Detection Work Aided

SHELBY — The new machine for the frozen section in cancer detection work in the Memorial hospital laboratory was used for the first time yesterday, according to Miss Josephine Hoover, superintendent.

The new machine was purchased with funds donated by the Shelby - Plymouth - Shiloh Cancer society.

With the new instrument, diagnosis of cancer can be made in a matter of minutes in the hospital's own laboratory and major surgery can be performed at once if the need for it is indicated.

Forces Clock Back An Hour

NEW PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)—The clock atop the Tuscarawas county courthouse was turned back one hour to Eastern Standard time Wednesday as county commissioners sought to avoid a taxparyers suit.

The commissioners advanced the courthouse clock one hour last month when New Philadelphia and other cities in the county adopted the daylight savings time. Clocks used by county offices to record documents were not changed, however, because Eastern Standard time is the official time of the State of Ohio.

Arthur A. Webster, of nearby Dennison, petitioned Prosecutor Vernon Lee to take legal action to force the commissioners to turn back the hands of the courthouse clock.

GETS ARMY POST—Tracy S. Voorhees, New York attorney, was nominated by President Truman to be assistant secretary of the Army. Voorhees, shown at the Pentagon was an army officer in the last war.—(AP Wirephoto.)

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3 The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Cincinnati Loses Gas Rate Fight In Ohio Court

School Land Tax Exempt, Judges Rule

Ban Liquor Board Members Expenses

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Higher gas rates for the city of Cincinnati were approved today by the state supreme court.

However, the rate is not permanent.

In a split, 4-to-3 decision, the high court upheld emergency interim rates fixed by the state Utilities Commission for the period since the last agreed gas rate ordinance expired.

In another Cincinnati case—also decided by a 4-to-3 vote—the high court ordered that tax exemption be granted to the Cincinnati board of education on the site of the proposed new vocational high school.

Simon L. Leis, of Cincinnati, was denied expenses incurred in Columbus while serving as a member of the state liquor board in another high court decision.

JUDGMENT THROWN OUT

A $35,000 judgment to the estate of David H. Woodworth, killed in a grade crossing crash at Geneva Sept. 2, 1944, was thrown out by the high court.

Woodworth's widow sued the New York Central railroad and the American Fork Hoe company and won the judgment in the Cuyahoga county common pleas court.

The custody of two-and-ahalf-year-old Sally Jean Paddock was awarded to the girl's father, Richard Paddock, in a decision affirming the Tuscarawas county courts.

Paddock's wife was burned to death and his residence destroyed Dec. 20, 1945. Paddock placed Sally Jean in the care of her maternal grandparents, Walter R. and Margaret Ripley, under an arrangement which Paddock claimed was temporary but which the Ripleys claimed was permanent.

In giving the child back to her father, the high court ruled that the juvenile court's possible jurisdiction was limited to cases where children were found to be either delinquent, neglected or dependent.

In another case the supreme court ordered G. Ernest Little, clerk of the Franklin county commissioners, to re-advertise and sell $89,900 in sewer bonds which had a 20-year maturity date. Little had refused to sell because the bond issue approved by the voters had a 25-year maturity.

The high court, however, held that the maturity date approved by the voters was a maximum length of time, and that the commissioners were within their rights in fixing a lesser term.

By refusing to review, the high court sustained street assessments against Sue Struble and other property owners along Lower River road in Cincinnati.

ESCAPES INJURY

BUCYRUS — Frank Heinlen, Bucyrus, driver of a truck owned by D. C. Brown of Bucyrus, escaped injury when the vehicle was struck by a quarry locomotive at Spore stone quarry Tuesday afternoon. The truck was badly damaged. Heinlen said he failed to see the locomotive in the heavy rain.

2nd Wallace Bid Blocked By Hummel

Committee Will Ask Court Order

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A new attempt to get the name of Henry A. Wallace on the Ohio election ballot was blocked today by Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel.

Leonard Hinds of Shaker Heights, representing the Ohio Wallace for President committee, presented petitions asking a place on the ballot for Wallace's new party but Hummel refused to accept them. Wallace representatives said between 40,000 and 45,000 signatures were on the petitions.

Hummel last week refused to place the party on the ballot under a 1941 law denying this move to "parties, or groups" engaged in unAmerican activities." The committee filed notice of appeal to the Ohio Supreme court Tuesday.

Hinds said the committee would ask the court for a mandamus order to force Hummel at least to accept the petitions.

Hummel based his refusal on grounds that there was no provision in Ohio law whereby the names of candidates for president or vice president and their electors could be placed on the ballot by petition.

Youth Group Attends Frolic

The first of six junior high frolics for boys and girls of Mansfield's two junior high schools was held last night at the YWCA under the direction of Mrs. Orlo Smith, chairman of the association's summer program.

Games and dancing to the juke box entertained the group. Registration, according to Miss Ann Knapp, Y-teen secretary, will continue next Wednesday night. At that time officers will be elected for the summer season. Miss Margaret Wheeler, who is executive secretary for the summer, aided in last night's program.

Taylor Sued By 'Daughter'

CHICAGO—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor, presidential envoy to the Vatican, was named defendant today in a $2,000,000 suit by a Chicago woman who alleges he is her illegitimate father.

The suit of Mrs. Eunice Walterman also names Joseph A. Bennett a defendant. Mrs. Walterman's petition described him as a friend and counsellor of Taylor.

She accused Taylor and Bennett of conniving to conceal that she is Taylor's illegitimate daughter and of hindering her efforts to establish her parentage.

Anyhow there is no talk of postponing the political conventions in order to give time for Congress to complete its work.

Word comes from out in Colorado that two square miles of spinach was wiped out by a hailstorm, causing one reader to comment: "Nature knows best."

Congress Should Recess, Not Adjourn

AS USUAL, Senator Taft has taken a sensible attitude in regard to the planned adjournment of Congress Saturday, June 19—which is little more than a week ahead. That date has been arbitrarily fixed as the week end just before opening of the Republican national convention in Philadelphia—which some members of Senate and House seem to regard as more important than completion of a mass of unfinished business, some of which is vitally important to millions of people in this country.

Republican leadership, according to Senator Taft, "seriously doubts" that Congress can reach final adjournment by the designated date, and there is talk of resuming sessions during the short interval between the two party conventions.

This would appear to be a poor plan, as human frailty would be more likely to direct thoughts of legislators to the outcome of one and prospects of the other convention, rather than into channels of constructive legislation.

Best procedure would be for Senate and House to recess June 19, get the conventions out of their systems, and then return to Washington, determined to complete unfinished business in an orderly way rather than winding up with such a rush as is now being aimed toward by interests seeking to prevent action on some highly important bills.

Truce Revives Hope In United Nations

THE NAME of Lake Success seemed finally to be appropriate yesterday at 3 p. m. when Secretary Trygve Lie of the United Nations announced that both the Jews and Arabs had accepted unconditionally a 28-day truce. The cessation of hostilities, demanded by the U.N., begins at 1 a. m. tomorrow. It remains to be seen if the success can be permanent.

Among the obvious problems to be settled are the disputes over continued Jewish immigration, the siege of Jerusalem, and the recognition of Israel by the Arabs. The answers will not be easy.

However, the truce is the first real demonstration of the ability of the U.N. to halt a war—even if the stoppage is only temporary. It also shows the value of the U.N. as a face-saving agent for two powers who find themselves embroiled in a struggle that can lead only to destruction.

In addition to lives saved and needless devastation delayed, the truce adds dignity and authority to the U.N. Both were sorely needed. Most of all, here is a tiny ray of hope that mankind may be approaching the day when a world authority can settle differences without organized slaughter and waste of the resources that could bring a fuller life to all mankind.

Those Small Express Shipments

A MOVE is on foot among the railroads, with the unofficial blessing of some members of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to discontinue express service for parcels weighing less than 70 pounds. The idea is that packages under that weight could be handled by the mail service as parcel post. The railroads say the small-package express is unprofitable.

If such a change were to be made some service would be completely lost to the public unless the parcel post regulations were overhauled considerably. The post office department is quite choosy as to what sort of articles it accepts for parcel post shipment. If express service for small packages were discontinued and the postal rules were not changed, the public would have to look for new ways to move a long list of articles when shipped in small quantities.

Apparently the railroads and the government have some time to figure out a solution. Railway Express Agency officials say that present contracts will keep small-package express service in operation until 1954.

Many Made Homeless By Fires

STRONG ARGUMENT for utmost caution in avoiding customary causes of fires is found in a booklet just issued by Lumbermens Mutual Insurance Company, which makes the startling revelation that, despite the critical housing shortage more than a thousand homes are destroyed by fire every day in the United States.

Listed as some of the causes of home fires are: Carelessly handled cigaret stubs; matches in the hands of children; electrical wiring and appliances; heating equipment, and dry cleaning in the home.

A suggestion is: "Get every member of your family interested in fire prevention—Remember that 90 per cent of all dwelling fires could be prevented by the use of ordinary care and common sense."

Few Italians Among Politicians

THE NEWLY published autobiography of the late Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York City raises anew the question why so few Italians have attained prominence in politics. La Guardia, with his twelve years as mayor, was undoubtedly the chief. Charles Poletti, who served as lieutenant governor of New York while Herbert H. Lehman was governor, moved up to the top post when Lehman resigned to head UNRRA. Former Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans, and Mayor Angelo Rossi of San Francisco about exhaust the list.

Why have there not been more? Irish and German elected officials have been numerous. The Italians have proved themselves able and subtle administrators in their centuries of history. Why have they not made more of a showing in the United States?

What Some Other People Are Saying

REP WOLCOTT (R) Mich.: "I think public housing is socialistic in its concept. . . . We have fought successfully since 1935 all attempts to socialize different segments of our economy."

* * *

DR. OSCAR KLINGER, personal physician to President Eduard Benes: "Ill health had nothing to do with Dr. Benes' resignation. He was deeply depressed over the communist seizure of power in his homeland."

* * *

SEN. MORSE (R) Ore.: "The country was being oversold on military requests. The draft should be an issue in the coming election."

But Remember, "Boys Will Be Boys."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Truman's Trip Reflects Party Discord

AS THIS writer witnessed the preparation of Chicago for President Truman's visit, his mind went back to other visits to that city by candidates and president-candidates.

Chicago is in many ways the political as well as the railroad center of the nation. Innumerable great political dramas have been staged there. It cannot be ignored in any national campaigning. It has a lusty, noisy way of greeting the notable and the great.

True, the big turnouts that greet a favorite political figure are not altogether spontaneous.

The crowds that met Al Smith in 1928 and F.D.R. again and again were well augmented and organized by the Cermak and Kelly machines. The boys were not invited; they were ordered to turn out. But the occasions were warm and unforgettable.

The Truman visit had a note of sadness. Chicago was well aware of the coming of the visitor. Police appeared in great numbers. The appropriate routine was followed. Sirens screamed and the streets came to life. But the atmosphere was not that other years.

The current Democratic leader in Chicago made his views known some time ago. He wishes the President would step down as a candidate, and he called for Eisenhower as a substitute. This is not the way to inspire the ward leaders to do their stuff when a President visits town. Consequently, there was less organized enthusiasm than is usual.

An important Republican leader in Chicago actually said that his party helped swell the crowd. "We want to keep Truman as the candidate," he said.

* * *

Embarrassing Position.

THE OMAHA reception was most depressing. Warm words followed between the local people and the President's associates. But the small turnout was foreordained. President Truman simply cannot elicit the response in the cities that might elect him. It is not his fault. It is simply that he had the misfortune to follow Roosevelt.

An eastern Democratic chieftain in private comment on the trip suggests that no one in the President's party on the train has any political ability at all. The fear of making the trip look political excludes those who could really help the harassed chief executive.

When the President gets to the West Coast his embarrassments will accumulate. In Seattle he will meet his old friend, Governor Wallgren, who wants to run for the vice presidency and who cannot possibly carry his state again. Politically, Wallgren is in an even more deplorable state than Truman.

The Democratic party in California is torn with dissention. The primary last week showed an immense ascendency of Republican strength. The President will appear in Berkeley at a colorful academic occasion. Then there will be a speech in Los Angeles under not very imposing auspices.

And then back to Independence among old friends. Old friends are the best, it is true. But in politics there aren't enough of them to make up for those more recent friends who are ready to desert a sinking candidacy.

Meanwhile, like a plucky man, the President plays out the schedule.

Viewing the National Scene

No Fundamental Changes

By THOMAS L. STOKES

ABOARD President Truman's Special Train—It is always an inspiring experience to get out over our country and see it again, and mix with the people once more.

It is so for a President of the United States, and it is good for him to inspect the vast domain over which he has a temporary stewardship, as President Truman now is doing, and to visit with the people who look to him for leadership.

It is equally true for the private citizen. The fact that an Easterner, such as the writer, feels somewhat timid at lapsing into anything approaching the sentimental about this great country of ours reveals of itself a false sort of sophistication which, thank heaven, disappears as he moves westward from the great cities and watches the endless plains melt into the horizon and wonders at the gorgeous colors that shed glory on the buttes and mesas and sagebrush, and eventually lifts his eyes to the silent mountains. For, finally, he wants to shout and to pray at the same time.

All of this makes up the character of the free people who tamed a wild land and the free people who inherited it—those who come today from miles away from their homes on the plains and in the hills, with their children, and converge upon the town where the train goes through to see the symbol of their government in Washington, a friendly people despite differences of political belief. And this gives something valuable to the man who holds our highest office, who happens now to be Harry S. Truman.

It is good for the President, also, and it is good for the visitor to tarry a moment here and there to sit quietly among the people in the cloistered places where they gather to refresh their spirits, as the President and members of his party did on Sunday when they attended services in the First Baptist church at Kearney, Nebr.

The town sits, like an oasis, among the hot rolling plains, for there are friendly shade trees up and down the streets that lead away from the bareness about the railroad station

* * *

Brings Recollections.

IT WAS such a solid brick structure as you may see anywhere in our land. The President and his family sat about halfway back in the church, with its flowers at the front and the choir of women in the loft above the pastor's rostrum, under the imitation gothic roof. On the wall was a clock with the advertisement of a local business. Everyone was conscious of the significance of this service—there were many people gathered outside behind a rope about the church—but the pastor, Vernon P. Pearson, who had become 35 that day, a cheerful, bespectacled young man with a round face, merely noted the presence of the chief executive briefly and welcomed him and went about his services as if it were just another Sunday and not a real red-letter day for his church and Kearney. Nor did he mention politics at all.

Here in such a scene any man renews his childhood and young manhood which is part of the background and tradition and texture of America.

The rustle as the congregation rises to sing, the old hymns that come back. The pretty young lady in the choir who sings as the collection plate is passed—a bit nervous on this occasion, it seemed. She was singing before the President of the United States, after all.

As the young minister talks along in his cheerful way, the mind wanders backward, for his voice is soothing and conducive to day dreams, and the sun shines, too, so warmly through the stained-glass windows. They seem the same stained-glass windows that a boy knew so intimately years ago.

America has grown since then. New towns have sprung up. Especially in this western realm, and we have been through two world wars, and so much we knew has changed.

But fundamentally none of it has changed, and for that we should be thankful, and it was fitting that a President of the United States visited a little brick church in Kearney, Nebr., to prove once again that it has not changed.

Tucker Auto Venture Is Under Scrutiny

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There are definite signs that James V. Forrestal, most/powerful member of the cabinet and the man with the most influence around the White House, is slipping. He has definitely slipped with Congress, and he is also slipping somewhat with President Truman.

There was a day when Forrestal could get anything he wanted from Truman. He used the technique of telling Harry what a great man he was, how his policies were absolutely right, and he didn't have to worry about re-election.

But now those close to the President say he has wised up to the fact that the charming secretary of defense led him down a blind alley when he got him to reverse the United Nations on Palestine, and that a lot of Forrestal's other advice has had a hollow ring.

The secretary of defense, however, is not one to give up easily. He has had his way in Washington too many years—and power can be a headstrong potion. This explains why Forrestal is reported out to get the scalp of Air Secretary Stuart Symington, the man who licked him on hte 70-group air force.

At cocktail parties, Forrestal has dropped a few hints lately about his distaste for the man who came out on top with Congress. And talking to a group of senators recently, the secretary of defense warned that the money for the 70-group air force couldn't be spent wisely—this after Congress had already voted the money.

Warming to his subject, Forrestal finally mentioned Symington by name.

"He can't get away with a vote like that," growled the secretary of defense. "That's something that hasn't happened to me in eight years around this town."

Significantly Forrestal added: "and he hasn't gotten away with it yet."

Tucker Auto In Mire.

THE AXE is now falling on Preston Tucker, the revolutionary automobile man, and falling hard. The first blow came last week when Tucker received a telegram from War Assets Administrator Jess Larson denying him the sale of the government's steel blast-furnace at Cleveland.

"The War Assets Administration," read the telegram, "today declined all bids received in connection with the disposal of the government-owned blast furnace and by-produce coke oven, known as Republic Steel facility, located at Cleveland, Ohio, designated as Plancor 257. War Assets Administration rejected these bids because they were inadequate."

This means that Tucker will have no steel to make his cars. Republic Steel, which isn't making cars, but wanted the blast furnace, also was turned down.

Meanwhile the justice department has 5 G-men investigating Tucker for alleged mail frauds. Likewise, the Securities and Exchange Commission is breathing hot on Tucker's back over his latest money-raising scheme.

He has been trying to get his sales agencies to order accessories, even though he still isn't certain of ever producing the automobiles to match.

Tucker has oversubscribed his stock—a total of $25,000,000 being sold to the public—and has also sold out his franchises in advance, reaping in another seven million dollars. All this took a lot of promoting for a man who doesn't know where the steel for his first car is coming from.

* * *

Government Sympathetic.

ON TOP of all that, Sen. Ferguson's committee is investigating how Tucker was able to move into his huge Chicago plant two months before the deal was completed with War Assets. A House subcommitee, headed by Rizley of Oklahoma, also took a preliminary look into Tucker's operations, wrote up its findings and turned them over to Ferguson last week.

The War Assets Administration, believing that any struggling, new enterprise deserves a break, did its best to bring the warring Tucker and Republic Steel to terms, lined up a deal to turn over the Cleveland furnace to Republic provided Republic would furnish 77,000 tons of steel. Then tucker walked out on the deal, demanded all or nothing.

In order to see how far the government dared go to help Tucker, the War Assets Administration offered to have a group of government engineers check Tucker's basic designs and report back what the risk would be. But Tucker flatly refused, screamed that it was a move to steal his inventions.

Note—Officials say that Republic Steel has been equally high-handed regarding the blast-furnace, wants to keep everyone out and get the plant for themselves for a shoestring

Heart Aches for Jews

By ELSIE ROBINSON

MY HEART aches for Nazareth today. I am not thinking of the political tangle between the Arabs and the Jews nor of the somewhat shilly-shally part we may have played in our diplomatic actions. I am thinking of the Jews who were the background of my childhood.

Childhood in the 80's and 90's was apt to be a grim affair. Sunday School governed our daily life and Sunday School was no formal ritual in those days. It was a flaming reality. Particularly the Old Testament which gave the history of the Jews far more realistically than we learned the story of our own America.

There, in words as real and simple as my daily bread, was the story of a people who, before all others, worshipped one God . . . the history of a people who were conquered again and again and held in slavery and yet who maintained and still maintain their spiritual integrity.

Chapter after chapter of their magnificent legend marched before me. I was filled with their poetry, with their prayers and invocations. In a filthy brutal world, they alone upheld chastity and hygiene and faith in immortality. No people on earth today have a more illuminating history.

* * *

DOWN through the centuries they have held to their ideals, in whatever land they have been.

To the Jews, marriage was sacred as it has been to few other people

To the Jews, spiritual worship held the home together and was a part of their daily ritual.

To the Jews, God was an invisible altar before which the flame never faltered.

I am not a Jew nor related to any Jew. I have heard much sneering at the Jewish race but I am convinced that nine-tenths of that sneering is inspired by simple envy. If we who pride ourselves so much on our American breed were willing to work and sacrifice half as hard as our brothers, the Jews, we would profit as greatly. They surpass us as students and workmen and we may as well face the fact.

IF WE WOULD TAKE OUR MARRIAGE VOWS AS SERIOUSLY AS THE JEW DOES HIS, WE WOULD CUT OUR DIVORCE RATE IN HALF AND DOUBLE OUR BIRTH RATE.

There is a great pride in the Jew and a great love of purity. He carries himself with a dignity which would shame many an American. He has not excelled in force or violence. The Jews have contributed beyond measure to the culture of the cities where they live; to music and art and inspired writing. Though they walked in rags, they have held themselves like kings.

* * *

THEY have done this because there is in them a flame which has never dimmed. They have acted more as children of God than any Christian has dared to do. They are a great and worthy people as they have always been since the days of Abraham.

Christ, on his bodily side, was of Jewish blood of the house of David. And if they are in a cruel dilemma today—if they are desperate and deserted—it is because we, who call ourselves Christians, have failed them as our kin.

I have no power to alter the events in Palestine today, save my prayers. But I have the power to scorn the Christian world which forgets the source of its spiritual culture . . . and the Man who died upon the cross for its salvation.

And my heart goes out in honor and pity and distress to every Jew today who is fighting for life.

One Man's Opinion

SCIENCE has made another lunge forward. . . . We now have a telescope in California so large that it takes three men to look at Venus.

* * *

I hear that in the first test an American colonel peering through the eye-piece out over the Pacific found a Soviet admiral peering back. . . . It was one of the shortest "cold eye wars" on record.

* * *

President Truman is going to put his eye to the telescope this week. . . . He's particularly interested in observing any stars that might happen to fall on Alabama.

* * *

In fact Democrats are lining up to test the telescope. . . . They want to be sure it can pick up Philadelphia when the GOP convention opens.

* * *

Everything is in readiness for the convention. . . . Most of the candidates are down to fighting weight and in fact a few now look a little underweight.

Freedom Train.

Americans now a little beyond middle age recall in the first decade of the century the growing tolerance and liberalism of the world. They believed tyranny was on its way out.

The tour of Freedom Train reminds them of the fragile foundations on which their hopes were based. There are great nations in Europe through which such a train could have traveled a half century ago but which would have barred it thirty years later.

There were Europeans early in the century who were sure they could not lose their freedom. But they did. We Americans are sure today. But Freedom Train carries vivid evidence that in our long history eternal vigilance has been—and remains—the price of liberty.—Kansas City Star.

He Does His Work Well

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE blacksmith's door slides wide open beside a narrow alley and there were three men in a row upon a bench silently watching the workman at his forge when I came in to see about my trailer hitch. The sparks flew in all directions and the anvil clanged.

At one end a stall was ready for horses that needed shoeing and the wooden floor was worn from the tramp of shod hoofs. The shop bore the horsey smell—manure heaped to one side, and small bluish chips of pared hooves. Over it all hung the coal smoke from the forge.

The blacksmith had fashioned a trailer hitch to fit my car. Now he bolted it onto the frame of the car. So it would not damage the bumper. Working flat on his back, he reamed out two holes that were too small, and inserted the bolts.

"Doesn't it bother you when men sit by and watch you work?" I asked him.

"No—not much. Specially if I know what I'm adoin'. And if a man doesn't think he knows what he has to do, he'd better not try. And if the man looking on knows as much as I do, then he's able to appreciate the job, and he's easy to work for. He's a valuable spectator."

Watching this skilled workman, I pondered at what he had gleaned from a busy lifetime. Although his labor may not be spectacular, it is of a nature that the farm population could not well do without.

Harvest and seed time are busy days with him. Having spent many days, as a boy, with my father in an old log shop, I like the very smell and feel of it—the song of the forge, the anvil clang, the piles of hoof clippings and horsehair.

There is something so masculine and comfortable about such a shop on a rainy day.

I remarked that he had few tools about. He said he had found it good policy to put every tool away, when he finished with it. He had trained his son the same way, pulling out a drawer, he showed me his small tools in a rack, and lamented the loss of one wrench that he had mistakenly left on a table one day, after using it.

"Time isn't wasted in putting things back," he said. "It is saved when you need something quick and can put your hand on it."

New York Fairy Godmother Has Wedding Rite

Calla Caroe has been known as a "Fairy Godmother" to nearly a thousand New York brides because she has given them the wedding they have always dreamed about —at phenomenally low cost.

The young bride-to-be learns that Calla Caroe will take care of all wedding details, from the bridal gown to the waiters' tips, for the amazing price of $195. Calla will write out invitations, provide facilities for the receptions, floral decorations, candid photographs of the wedding, luncheon for up to 30 guests, and a big cake complete with ornaments.

The secret of how Calla charges so little for so much is that she orders in volume and thus is able to purchase at a great savings. Actually, the bride buys her entire wedding at wholesale prices, plus a small service fee for Calla.

Averaging eight weddings a week, Calla is now planning as far ahead as January. She has had numerous offers to arrange big society weddings but, as she explains in the June CORONET article, "I've been budget-minded all my life and I find it a lot more challenging to stretch a dollar than to have more than I need."

MRS. CARL FRITZ —Photo by Marlo

Callahan-Fritz Nuptials Read At St. Peter's Church June 5

ON A HONEYMOON TRIP through northern New York state are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fritz, who were wed June 5 at the St. Peter's Catholic church. Before her marriage Mrs. Fritz was Catherine Ellen Callahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Callahan, 138 Chandler Place. Mr. Fritz's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Fritz, Dickinson, North Dakota.

Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiated for the ceremony solemnized before an altar decorated with palms, ferns and bouquets of flowers in the pastel shades. The nuptial vows were exchanged at 9:30 a. m.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Callahan wore an ivory satin gown, fashioned with a pointed bodice, square neckline, trimmed in pearl beads, and long sleeves which came to points over the hands. The full skirt extended into a long train. Her headband was of white net and satin bows, which held in place the circular fingertip length veil of white net. She carried a white orchid tied with white satin ribbon streamers. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls and a gold bracelet, gifts from the bridegroom.

Miss Marian Rick of Loudonville, a student at Ohio State University and a close friend of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a pink taffeta gown and a similar style headdress with matching veil. Her flowers were a bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Mrs. Callahan wore a white print street length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Friday, June 11.

SINCERE, honest, well-organized methods, sustained by clever strategies or hidden factors, should be the means of placing the affairs on a firm and enduring basis. In all plans, efforts and objectives, aim to work at basic security for the present and also the future. There may be secret agreements or commitments from those impressed by expansive and worthy effort, but marshal all essentials toward enduring and practical ends by careful and faithful attack even on static or lagging situations.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may look for an excellent and enduring return for work well done, even though there may be stubborn obstacles, limitations and delays or disappointments. But an earnest, concentrated and sustained grasp of the most obdurate conditions is bound to attract substantial rewards or practical aids for progressive and long-range benefits or stable possessions. Hidden factors also have weight, with idealistic or constructive urges based on strong intuitions. These could be put forth by realistic and faithful attempts to vanquish all defeats, frustrations or defects.

A child born on this day, while encountering limitations or frustrations, could have hidden or inner powers to materialize its ideals, possibly by impressing others as to its sterling worth.

Nazi Murder Plan Bared By Records

Nearly 6,000,000 Jews Exterminated

NUERNBERG, Germany—(AP)—Hitler accomplished only half his goal in his plan to destroy the Jews. Documents in war crimes trials here disclosed there was a master plan to gas 11,000,000.

A cold, impersonal discussion of the "final solution of the Jewish question" took place at a conference Jan. 20, 1942 in Berlin.

A record of the conference was introduced in the trial of the Nazi ministers.

Prosecutor Robert M. W. Kempner claimed the document put full blame for the Jewish annihilation on the ministers, including the foreign office, instead of the usual Himmler-Bormann scapegoats

A chart was laid down listing 11,000,000 Jews, even including those in the British Isles. At that time the Nazi hierarchy apparently had not given up hope of defeating and occupying Great Britain.

APPROVE CONFIRMATION

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Senate finance committee has recommended the confirmation of the appointment of Thomas J. Lynch, a native Ohioan, as general counsel of the treasury department.

Shoup to Attend Convention In South

County Commissioner C. L. Shoup said today he will leave June 19 for the national convention of county officials in Jacksonville, Fla.

The convention will be held June 21 through June 23. Shoup said he is the first delegate to be appointed from Richland county to the convention. Forty delegates from the state are expected to attend. Shoup said he will travel by train.

Club Sees Bugs' Work

John Varga, representative of Swift and company Plant Food division in Cleveland, presented a technicolor film entitled "Vegetable Insects" to Mansfield Optimist club members at their noon luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The film showed the various types of plant, fruit and vegetable insects that annually destroy 10 per cent of the nation's food crop.

In magnified pictures, members of the club saw enlarged studies of insects destroying crops and in some cases other insects.

The film demonstrated the proper method to combat the menace by spraying the plants with poisons.

Bryce J. McMahon, Optimist club president, presided at the meeting and Lester Dye served as program chairman.

Senate Votes For Dirigibles

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Brewster (R-Me.) won Senate approval Wednesday of a plan for government development of long distance commercial dirigibles.

The maritime commission would be directed to take over development of the "lighter-than-air aircraft" under the bill Brewster pushed through the Senate by unanimous consent.

The House passed a similar bill Tuesday and Brewster got the Senate to take this up, substitute the Senate bill, and then send it to a Senate-House conference.

Flying In and Out of Mansfield

3,000-Foot Runway Ready At 'Port

MANSFIELD MUNICIPAL AIRPORT —Mansfield Municipal Airport now has an excellent north-south sod runway 3,000 feet long located on the west side of the field. It has been well marked by Richland Aviation, Inc., for transient pilots. It is quite smooth since it was rolled with a 12-ton roller.

A new taxiway has been added connecting the east-west runway with the taxiway system to the long runways. This was a joint venture. The city of Mansfield hauled the slag. Richuand Aviation, Inc., paid for the slag and for having the ground excavated. Art Schreck donated the use of his 12-ton roller, a bulldozer and a leveler. Several private pilots, Art Schreck, Inc., and Richland Aviation, Inc., donated the labor which all resulted in a bargain-counter taxiway for the City of Mansfield.

FIRST SOLO—George A. Litt of Fredericktown made his first solo flight last week.

RECENT VISITORS — Walter Fisher on his way home to New York City from a vacation in Los Angeles with a friend in an automobile, became so bored with the slow traveling that he decided to take TWA from Mansfield to New York. He stopped in at Richland Aviation to inquire if it would be possible for him to solo.

He explained that he had been trying for more than a year to make his first solo flight in New York City but something would always interfere. Fisher soloed Sunday evening and liked it so well that he stayed over another day and flew three hours solo on Monday before taking the last flight east to New York with TWA.

RECENT X-C's (CROSS COUNTRY TRIPS)—When the Globe Steel Abrasive company had a breakdown of a production line piece of equipment, William Kann jr. called Universal Gear corporation at Indianapolis, Ind., to make arrangements for immediate repairs. Then he called Richland Aviation and asked that they remove the rear seat of the Navion in order to load the machine for flying to Indianapolis. Kahn and Wilbur Shafer made the trip, returning in time to have the repaired machine installed and operating the same day it broke down.

The following returned from Georgian Bay, Can., after having a five-day fishing vacation: Bill Gibson, R. A. Patterson, Norman Ellis, William Gibson, sr., R. R. Houser and Paul Guthrie. The trip was made in Bill Gibson's Ercoupe and Richland Aviation's Republic Seabee. At Muskoko Bill Gibson obtained the services of another Seabee to fly them to Manatou Lodge. Patterson and Ellis are from Findlay, O., Houser from Toledo, Wm. Gibson, from Kentucky, and Bill Gibson from Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pankow recently returned from a trip in a Luscombe to Watertown, Wis., where they attended a family reuion.

Dr. and Mrs. Burr M. Hathaway were accompanied by their two children, Thomas and Jean, on a trip to their cottage at Mio, Mich. They made the trip in their Beech Bonanza.

Police Seeking Child's Attacker

CINCINNATI — (INS) — Cincinnati police searched today for a neatly dressed man, about 35, suspected of attacking a four-year-old girl in the darkened second floor hallway of her home.

The girl said the man clamped a hand over her mouth and carried her upstairs. Physicians said she showed evidence of criminal assault.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

The stage show includes five scenes, one of them featuring the Frankenstein monster in person. A horror movie, Bela Lugosi in "Son of Dracula," will be shown with the stage show.

Proposes New Pipeline Job

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas company wants to increase its gas pipeline facilities to Toledo, Fremont and adjoining Ohio areas and replace transmission, pipelines in two places from Pavonia, near Mansfield, to Toledo

The company has asked the federal power commission to approve the project, to cost an estimated $3 082 000

One replacement section would extend about 21 miles from Pavonia to a connection in Crawford county The other would extend about 40 miles from an existing line in Seneca county through Sandusky county

The company said it expected to complete all major construction by November of 1949

Orchardists Find New Weapon In Battle Against Locusts

An insecticide with a jaw-breaking name may be a life saver for orchardists in the Mansfield area HETP or hexaethyltetraphosphate a powerful poison, is being used effectively in the battle against hordes of 17-year locusts, Orchardist Esley Cleckner said yesterday

Cleckner has used the poison in his large peach orchard on the Park avenue east road and found it kills locusts in five or 10 minutes if it is sprayed directly on the pests. So far DDT has been ineffective in fighting the locusts.

HETP is so powerful that only a pint is needed in 100 gallons of spray materials The insecticide has been developed through the work of the Ohio Experiment station and Ohio State university, Cleckner said

Orchardists are just beginning to use the insecticide They waited until most of the locusts were out of the ground before applying the solution It takes several days after the locusts have appeared for the damage they cause to show up The harm is done by the female insects which cut slits in the bark of trees to deposit their eggs When the eggs hatch the young locusts drop to the ground and bore into the soil to remain 17 years

Poor Quality of Federal Justice In New Jersey Courts Questioned

NEW YORK—These dispatches have often called attention to the quality of federal justice administered by the office of the United States attorney, the federal district courts and the federal grand juries and trial juries in New Jersey.

The commentaries have examined the actions and political background of Edgar L. Rossbach, the U. S. attorney, and Thomas Francis Meaney, one of the district judges.

Both are clubhouse Democrats of the Hague machine and both officiated in two notorious soft prosecutions of union crooks, Joe Fay and Ben Pross. The acquittal of Fay was so flagrant that Attorney General Tom Clark the next morning called it a "- - - damned outrage."

Judge Meaney suffered this particular outrage to unfold without interference and maintained the same judicial attitude throughout the Pross job.

★

This notorious crook, the center of a conspiracy case, was acquitted while his two accomplices were convicted. Fay was a powerful racketeer in the same political circle with Rossbach and Meaney. The charge against Fay was evasion of the tax on graft from contractors performing big government jobs. Part of the money went to associate thieves in the same political machine in Jersey City and Newark.

The charge against Pross was a black-market sale of whiskey obtained from Schenley during the war by means of threats by Pross to call strikes against Schenley's liquor factories, warehouses and so forth. The shakedown was proved and the black market sales were traced by the alcohol tax unit of the treasury.

On May 20, Rossbach said he thought a public official should get out after he had hit the "high spot" of his career. The Fay mess was Rossbach's real high spot, but that was about 18 months ago. Appearing personally as prosecutor before Meaney, Rossbach let one fellow get onto the jury who had formerly been a member of Fay's union and who was now a contractor subject to ruinous reprisals from the union.

Two other jurors were members of families within the political circle of the prosecutor, the judge and the crook at bar. The grand jury was typical of the whole character of justice in the federal courts in New Jersey under Clark and all his predecessors in the new deal.

Clark sent a man up to Trenton, where the grand jury sat, and to Newark, where the "- - - damned outrage" had occurred, to "investigate" and report to him. The report was a brush-off and never was offered for publication.

Clark tried to forget, it but the situation was so raw and the U. S. attorney and the judges of the Hague mob were so bold that something finally had to give. It got worse by the month.

★

Income tax jobs settled on the Elliott Roosevelt scale of a few cents on the dollar. Bankruptcy jobs. Black market jobs. All kinds of jobs, and a point to be remembered is that Meaney and Rossbach are clubhouse boys, who know or have a line on everybody. They know the background and susceptibilities and the hidden nerve centers of most of those who are called to serve on grand juries and trial juries and the weaknesses of witnesses. Anything they don't know themselves, they can easily find out through the Hague mob.

Hard Work Plus Dash of Luck Brought Fame to Leading Authors

AUTHOR! AUTHOR! It takes more than a knack of scrambling the alphabet into logical sentences to scale the literary heights. Many soul-wracking obstacles must be surmounted. . . . Years ago an ambitious word-weaver starved and struggled before he turned out his initial novel and sent it to the publisher for appraisal. The manuscript was returned with this counsel: "You're not cut out to be a writer. If I were you, I'd forget all about it."

The scrivener continued turning out yarns for the next six years—not one clicked. He decided to pen one more novel before giving up his writing career . . . The success of this book zoomed the author to fame and fortune: Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street."

★

G. K. Chesterton was once invited to a party by a General. During dinner his host urged him to entertain the guests by spinning some amusing yarns.

"General," Chesterton replied, "everyone to his own trade. I'll start telling stories after you fire a cannon!"

Somerset Maugham picked up the tricks of the playwrighting profession in the most painstaking manner. He not only read hundreds of successful dramas but he also copied them in long-hand in an effort to learn how they were constructed.

★

There are some high-domed snobs who brush off journalese as lacking in literary quality. But the material gathered by a scrivener while on a reportorial assignment served as the basis for a Pulitzer prize-winning novel. John Steinbeck's "The Grapes of Wrath."

When it was reported that Rudyard Kipling was getting a shilling a word for his writings, the author received a shilling accompanied by this message: "Please send us one of your words."

Kipling replied: "Thanks."

The infinite patience and the long years of hard work which fine writing demands is perhaps best exemplified by Edward Gibbon's classic, "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire."

Gibbon worked on it for 20 years.

★

Nathaniel Hawthorne struggled to support his family by working as a clerk in a customs house. One day he lost his job—but when he told his wife about it she amazed him by exclaiming: "I have always known that you were a man of genius. I knew that some day you would write an immortal masterpiece. So every week—out of the money you have given me for housekeeping—I have saved something; we have enough to last for a year."

During that year Hawthorne penned "The Scarlet Letter."

There were four horsemen who rode with Paul Revere spreading the alarm. However, only Revere is remembered. Why?

He was immortalized via H. W. Longfellow's verse.

★

Luck is always a vital factor in success. Some years ago an editor ordered a book reviewer to turn out a review in an hour—to fill a hole in the page. The critic chose the thinnest book he could find in his office and was enchanted by it.

Because of his rave notice for James Stephans' "Crock of Gold," the reviewer was given credit for discovering a new writer who later rose to world recognition.

Fast Time Issue Set For Decision

Council to Vote On Change Tonight

City council will meet at 7:30 p. m. tonight to take a final vote on the daylight saving time issue. The bill already has had two readings.

The first attempt to put the city on fast time died on March 22 when the measure was defeated 6 to 3. Today city hall observers were hesitant to predict how the new vote would turn out.

Other items on the council calendar include:

A bill authorizing the service-safety director to negotiate purchase of three-tenths of an acre of land from Leona McGregor. The plot, needed for the Clear Fork water works project, is located south and west of the Lexington-Ontario road.

A bill to pay Russell Gimbel $2,500 in settlement of his claim for damages to his farm suffered during construction of airport. The farm is located on the east side of the port.

A measure granting a license to Ivon Bauer and John P. Bell to extend sewer facilities on Bowman road from Sturges avenue to lot 7972.

A bill authorizing the service-safety director to ask for bids to supply the water department with 4,000 feet of copper tubing. Council will be asked to appropriate $1,800 for the purchase.

12 Graduate From OSU

Among 2,000 graduates who will receive degrees at the annual Ohio State university commencement Friday are eight Mansfield students and four from the city area.

Mansfield graduation candidates are Curtis D. Bechtel, a degree in music and a bachelor of science in education; Robert B. Cooke, B.S. in business administration; Morton S. Frankel, bachelor of laws; Lois E. Gulher, BS in nursing; John L. Handley, BS in education; Jack Hammett, BS in business administration; William M. Koehheiser, bachelor of laws; and Joseph R. Zara, BS in social administration.

Area graduates include: Joseph V. Baum, bachelor of aeronautical engineering; Donald E. Darr, bachelor in chemical engineering; Vivian R. Jrill, BS in business administration, all of Ashland, and Maurice E. Garber of Bellville, BS in agriculture.

Speaker at the commencement will be Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme court. Exercises will be held at 5:30 p. m in the Ohio Stadium.

Akronite Denies Larceny Charge

Steve Moritz, Akron, was bound over to the grand jury under $1,500 bond today in municipal court after he pleaded innocent to a charge of grand larceny.

The affidavit charges that on May 25 he stole a shotgun valued at $70 from John Shaffer, 201½ Sherman avenue. Detectives said he also took a $250 watch. Both the watch and shotgun were recovered.

Moritz, arrested yesterday by Akron police, had been staying at the Shaffer residence at the time of the alleged theft.

George A. Rhoades, 84 Park avenue east, was fined $5 and costs for having improper lights.

EYESORE—Here is part of the unsightly mess existing at Maple Lake park as the result of the action of thoughtless persons dumping garbage and tin cans in the city park.—(News-Journal photo)

Trash Dumpers Make Eyesore of Park

By SHELDON BINN

Lack of civic pride has turned the city's downtown area, its alleys and one of its parks into ugly eyesores.

"Almost every day, Street Supt. E. W. Davis said today, "street department workers find neatly wrapped packages of garbage that are thrown out of cars by people who do not have garbage service."

There are approximately 11,500 domestic water accounts in the city proper, yet there are only slightly more than 7,000 garbage accounts. What do the other 4,500 persons do with their garbage?

Some burn it, others bury it, some use the city dump and others dump it into Tobey's Run, Ritter's Run, and in streets and alleys in the city or along highways outside of town.

Those who do not subscribe for garbage service can haul garbage to the city dump where it will be handled at a cost of approximately one cent a gallon. Tin cans and other trash may be dumped free of charge.

Some thoughtless persons, however, are too lazy to make the trip out there. They just dump the refuse wherever they see fit.

HAZARD TO HEALTH

In other words, some of the persons who do not subscribe to the garbage service are creating a health hazard.

The health department recommended several years ago that city make garbage collection compulsory to halt the indiscriminate dumping. No action was taken, though the evil continues.

A look at Maple Lake park shows a typical example of the lack of civic pride on the part of some Mansfielders. Tin cans and garbage are dumped there despite the fact that three signs stating that dumping is forbidden have been erected there by thoughtful city officials. Each time the signs were put up, they were removed by unidentified persons.

Things have reached such a disreputable condition at Maple Lake that Park Supt. Frank Burton has warned that violators will be prosecuted to the full limit of the law if apprehended.

Part of the blame for dirty streets in the business district may be laid directly at the door of several retail merchants.

Davis repeatedly has requested them to instruct employes not to sweep refuse into the street, but the practice continues.

"The streets are clean at 7 a. m. after we flush them," he said, "but by 10 a. m. they are filled with refuse from the stores."

He said he would renew his request for cooperation and that he plans to contact the Retail Merchants association and the Chamber of Commerce in a plea for greater cooperation.

Three Resign Center Board

Resignations of three members of the board of the Rural Life Center were announced today by Thomas J. Shepard, president.

Rev. Floyd Eckert, who has been active from the start in the movement for establishment of the Rural Center, resigned because of ill health, and Ralph Oswalt was elected to fill his post.

The resignations of Mrs. Paul Kranz of Cass township and Mrs. John Simmons of Perry township, also were accepted by the board of directors. Their successors have not yet been selected.

Clare Will of Sharon township was named to Rev. Eckert's place on the board of trustees.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Schoedinger funeral chapel with burial in Union cemetery, Columbus.

SPARKS CAUSE FIRE

Firemen from central, No. 2 and No. 4 stations answered an alarm to the Humphryes Manufacturing company at 7:35 a. m. today when sparks from a welding torch set fire to tar paper covering repair work. Slight damage was caused, firemen said.

2 File Suit For $17,500

John S. and Dorothy A. George, of 317 Park avenue West, were named defendants in two damage suits totaling $17,500 filed today in common pleas court by Earl J. and Minnie Fox, of 137 West Cook road.

The suits were the result of an accident on June 12, 1947. The petition said Mrs. Fox fell through an open heating register in the George home while papering a first-floor bedroom.

As a result of the fall, Mrs. Fox says, she fractured her left ankle and dislocated her left foot. Mrs. Fox asked $15,000 as compensation for her injuries.

Her husband, in his petition, asks $2,500 for medical expenses incurred as a result of the mishap.

PICTURES FROM PLANE—

At least two Mansfielders last night picked up a television program that originated in Baltimore, Md. The telecast, an experimental show from station WIOXWB, was relayed by a transmitter plane hovering near Pittsburgh. The Mansfielders, who said they got a clear image of the wrestling match which was being televised, are Don McLaughlin, counterman at the Burroughs Radio shop, 148 South Adams street, and Anton Miller, 456 Lida street. They said they got the telecast shortly after 8 p. m. and that it remained clear for about 45 minutes until the transmitter plane moved to Huntington, W. Va. Normal television range is considered 50 to 60 miles.

FURNITURE NEEDED—

Business and Professional Women's club members visiting the Richland county Children's home last night, found a great need for furniture in the girls' and boys' living rooms. The rooms, where the older boys and girls must study for school and work on their "hobbies", are nearly bare of comfortable, relaxing chairs and tables for working.

A few good floor lights, a couple of solidly built chairs, where the boys and girls can read in comfort, would be a big help to the youngsters, according to Mrs. Laura Reece, matron, and member of the club. Club members discussed the matter on the way home last night. Plans for improvements are still indefinite, but in the meantime Mansfielders who have comfortable furniture stored away in attics could help a lot.

Lines At New Jobs Plugged

War On Storm Water Rushed

Pushing the campaign to get storm water out of the city's sanitary sewer system, the sanitary sewer department has ordered a crackdown on contractors who are not obeying sewer permit regulations.

The department ordered that all sewers at houses which are under construction be plugged until the roof is on.

City Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier said it has been common practice among a number of contractors to secure a sewer tap, install a sanitary sewer connection and then drain the basements of rain water while the house was under construction.

It is the flow of storm water into the sanitary sewers that causes them to back up during heavy rains and flood basements, BeView said. The system can handle the sanitary sewage, but can't handle the abnormal load created by the storm water, he added.

WANTS MEASURE AMENDED

The department also is seeking the passage of an amendment to the ordinance now in effect which would forbid the issuance of a sewer tap permit until the plumbing has been installed in the house and approved by the plumbing inspector.

Under the present law, a permit can be obtained when the contractor asks for it, although it is illegal to let the storm water enter the sanitary sewers.

The department has specified that the minimum size of sewer tap must be the state standard of six inches. BeVier said this rule was going to be strictly enforced.

He said homes have been built with four-inch taps which frequently clog and prevent the entire plumbing system in the house from working.

Area Dentists Meet In City

Arrangements to install officers of the central district of the Ohio Dental Society were made at a meeting of the nine-county district at the Westbrook Country club yesterday.

The installation will be held at Marion in September. Officers will include: Dr. J. T. Dutro of Marysville, president; Dr. H. R. Finney, Marion, president-elect; Dr. W. O. Seamans, Delaware, vice-president; Dr. W. Neil Price, Marion, treasurer, and Dr. R. B. Moyer, Mansfield, secretary.

At a meeting yesterday, 50 members of the district were present for a golf match, cards and luncheon. Guests for the day were Dr. W. S. Sargeant of Toledo, president-elect of the Ohio Dental society; Dr. B. E. Cosgrove and Dr. W. E Welker, also of Toledo; Dr. Earl Lowery, secretary of the state dental board, and Dr. Keith DeVoe, both of Columbus.

Arson Bureau Gets Results

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The state's new arson bureau has achieved good results in tracking down persons who deliberately start fires, Commerce Director Fred J. Milligan reported today.

Milligan told Gov. Thomas J. Herbert that the bureau in the first six months of its existence got 53 arson convictions. This was more than double the number of convictions for arson in 1945. In 1945 there were 26 convictions for arson, and 23 in 1946.

"In 1947," Milligan said, "30 persons were convicted of arson during the first 11 months. But in the last month of 1947 the new arson bureau began to function and 11 persons were convicted of arson during that month alone. In 1948, there have been 42 persons convicted of arson to June 1."

Riley Becomes Store Manager

John R Riley has assumed management of the Marsh Shoe store which opened here late in April. Riley formerly was associated with the O'Neil and Crowe's stores in Mansfield.

Cleveland Avoids City Income Tax

CLEVELAND — (INS) — A municipal income tax to solve Cleveland's financial problems was ruled out as the immediate solution today.

Mayor Thomas A. Burke stated that he plans to seek a city charter amendment which would enable the city to impose an 11-mill operating levy that would increase income about a million and a half dollars annually.

Blackwell Loses to Phillies By 3-2 Score

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

"THE 1948 World Series will open in the Polo Grounds (home of the Giants) on the sixth of October and then move to the Cleveland stadium on the eighth." . . . We have this from no less an authority than Hankus Pankus Greenberg, the one-time home run swatter and present vice-president of the Cleveland Indians. . . . Hank was in our midst last night to address the B'nai Jacob Men's club. . . . We had dinner with the lanky diamond luminary at the Fairway and spent nearly four hours listening to him talk baseball and the Indians in particular. . . . Big Hank, who spent 18 years as a ball player, before buying into the Indians is really enthusiastic about his new position and the Indians' chances. . . . He believes that the Tribe has a good enough pitching staff to win the flag because "none of the other American league teams has a great bunch of pitchers." . . . He cited that Allie Reynolds is the Yankee "stopper" and Joe Dobson appears to be the best of the Bostons. . . . Neither could hold a candle to Bob Feller when they were with the Indians. . . . Hank also took the opportunity to dispell rumors that Feller was washed up. . . . The Tribe v-p admits that Rapid Robert may not be as fast as of yore but he queries, "Is there any pitcher in baseball you would trade Feller for?"

★

HANK'S BIGGEST thrill in baseball was hitting a home run in his first major league game after returning from over four years service. . . . This from a fellow who missed the runs-batted-in mark of 184 by one in 1937 and Babe Ruth's 60-homer mark by two in 1938. . . . He carried a life-time hitting mark of .319 in the American league. . . . Of his baseball playing, Hank says all that is behind him now. . . . He wants to catch up on the front office side of baseball which he considers an interesting phase. . . . Hank has spent most of his career in a dugout but now will be a vital cog in deciding which of the Indians' 300 players on 19 farm clubs should be playing where and why.

★

GREENBERG talked very little about the flag race other than predicting Cleveland to finish first. . . . However, he figures Philadelphia will settle down to fourth or fifth. . . . One of the first queries thrown at Hank in a question and answer period at B'nai Jacob had to do with the Bob Kennedy-Pat Seerey trade. . . . Seerey never did live up to expectations as an Indian but Hank figures that Kennedy will be a pretty good outfielder and insurance at third base. . . . "After all Kennedy came up to the majors as a third-sacker."

★

HANK RECALLED that he and Jimmy Lymper, Senior high baseball coach and part-time Cleveland scout, broke into ball together in 1931 in the Piedmont league. . . . Lymper was playing third for Greensboro and Hank was with Raleigh. . . . Hank said, "I didn't see much of Jimmy as I never reached third." . . . Jim cracked back, "He just never stopped at third on those home run smacks" . . . Hank told us that Jimmy could have gone far but was too small. . . . Mike Lapine, Cleveland Press executive sports editor, who introduced Greenberg, injected a bit of track into the program when he said, "Harry Mehock does a better job of running the Mansfield Relays than any track meet I have seen."

Giants Split With Cubs; Cards Lose

By LOU GARAVENTE

NEW YORK—(INS)—Ewell Blackwell has baseball observers wondering today whether he has lost the artistry that established him as the leading major league moundsman last year.

They recalled Blackwell's spectacular 16 game winning streak in 1947, his no-hitter against the Braves and his grand total of 22 wins, the best in both circuits.

Today, fresh from a siege of hospitalization caused by shoulder strain, "The Whip" is cracking with far less noise.

Blackwell has won only three games this season while losing four.

CLIPPED BY CURT

Last night, Blackwell lost a 3-to-2 game to Philadelphia when Dick Sisler clipped him for a three-run homer. Blackwell gave up only six hits to the nine surrendered by rookie Curt Simmons.

Early Wynn, Washington Senator pitcher, unfurled a four-hit arc-light job against the St. Louis Browns to win, 5 to 2. Gil Coan, rookie outfielder, drove in three runs with a triple and inside-the-park home run.

The New York Giants gifted the Chicago Cubs with an 8-to-7 first game win that snapped Chicago's seven-game losing streak, but then won, 5 to 1, behind the five-hit twirling of Clint Hartung.

Catcher Mickey Livingston and Bobby Thomson hit homers for New York in the opener.

In the American league the skidding Athletics tumbled into third place last night after dropping their fifth successive game, a 7-to-4 loss to the Detroit Tigers.

Philadelphia nicked Dizzy Trout for a three-run lead in the first, but George Kell's homer in the sixth followed by a three-run outburst in the seventh against loser Nelson Potter nullified the early scoring.

KINER GETS 15TH

Ralph Kiner, of the Pirates, rocketed homer No. 15 over the left field wall to feature a five-run first inning that led to the Pirates' 6-to-4 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rex Barney was tagged with the loss. Rip Sewell, veteran right-hander, won his fourth game.

The St. Louis Cardinals muffed a chance to take over first place from the Giants last night. Warren Spahn and the Boston Braves trounced the Redbirds, 11 to 5. Spahn won his fifth game in a breeze. Howie Pollet took the loss, his third.

Rain and cold, respectively, forced postponement of the New York-Chicago and Cleveland-Boston afternoon games in the American league.

Farm Tools and Ideal Electric remain on top of the Industrial league softball standings after recording their fourth straight victories last night.

The Toolmen, defending loop champs, moved right along with a 4-to-0 victory over Mansfield Plumbing behind the three hit pitching of Jack Walters. He fanned seven and his mates clinched the result with three runs in the first two frames.

Glen Zartman limited Telephone company to four hits, as Ideal racked up an 11-to-3 win.

Tappan Stove defeated Dominion Electric for its third straight victory, 6 to 1. Richard Kanz permitted only four hits. Mervin DeLong, Tappan outfielder, hit a homer in the fifth with one on base.

In the fourth game, Mansfield Tire won a slugfest from Cole's Tool and Dye, 14 to 8. Jerry Novacic and R. Wilson homered for the Rubbermen.

Gorman-Rupp Plays Willard In League

Mansfield Gorman-Rupp will put its first place position in the North Central Ohio Inter-City Softball league on the block tonight when it travels to Willard for a league contest with the Elks team.

Gorman-Rupp will be seeking its third league victory, having won the first two starts from Tiffin and Marion. Should Willard upset the locals, Ashland will move into first place, as the Indians now have a three-won-and-one-lost record. Willard lost to Ashland in the season opener and then defeated Mt. Vernon.

A tabulation of averages reveal that tight pitching and the hitting of two men—Tick Hamilton and Al Baki—have carried the Mansfield team to victory in six of its seven games.

BAKI LEADS TEAM

Shortstop Baki leads the team with a .381 batting mark while Hamilton, the first string catcher, is slugging a neat .353. His six hits include three doubles and two home runs.

On the pitching side, the G-R nurlers have allowed only 14 runs and 29 hits in 56 innings. Dale McKinley, Kenny Windsor, and Bobby Regula have each won two games, while McKinley was charged with the team's lone defeat. He was beaten, 4-1, by Ashland.

★

Gorman-Rupp will play a return game with Wooster Lumber tomorrow night at Wooster. The locals defeated Wooster here early in the season.

Pint-Sized Star Choice In National

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Favorite Ben Hogan and about as fine a competitive field as the country has to offer teed off today in the 48th U. S. open golf championship.

The pint-sized Hershey, Pa., star with the long, straight shots was the logical choice to lead the pack when the famed trophy is awarded at the 72-hole conclusion Saturday.

Riviera is the longest layout over which the National Open has been played. Its par is 35-36—71.

The links derby that will decide whether Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., will retain the laurels he reaped a year ago at St. Louis, comprised the best in the land plus Bobby Locke of South Africa.

NOT MUCH CHANGE

Defending Champion Worsham, incidentally, was not conceded much of a chance.

Expected to tread on Hogan's heels were the casual Locke and the boomer from White Sulphur Springs, Va., Samuel Jackson Snead.

Behind Hogan, Locke and Snead were 25 or more who could fill the specifications of a champion.

They included smiling Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex., slim Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill.; Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich.; Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C.; Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., and Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Herman Keiser of Akron, O., and Toney Penna of Cincinnati.

Can't Read Greens

Al Hager, Mansfield golf star, has been having trouble on the greens in practice rounds for the National Open.

Hager, who flew into Los Angeles Sunday, has posted rounds of 78, 78 and then hit a 76 yesterday. In a telegram to the News-Journal, Hager said, "I can't read the greens but I'll try."

Greystone Softballers Meet Lorain Saturday

The Greystone Nite club softball all-stars will entertain the Lorain All-Stars Saturday at 8.30 p. m. at the Gorman-Rupp field.

Either Dick Roberts or Curley Bratton will pitch for Greystone. Admission will be 30 cents for adults and 15 for youngsters.

Graziano, Zale Will Try Again

By PAT ROBINSON

NEWARK, N. J. —(INS)— Rocky Graziano, who indulges in a spot of modified mayhem now and then, and Tony Zale, who is addicted to similar pleasing pastimes, will work each over tonight, weather permitting.

These lads were scheduled to spatter each other's brains last night but rain postponed the slaughter until this evening.

Then, if the weather is propitious, the boys will stage their middleweight title brawl in the Newark ball park.

Postponements often have wrecked the chances of sensitive lads with keen nerves and some imagination. But it won't bother either of these lads.

Zale is about as emotional as a clam on ice. Rocky has all the imagination of a duck-billed platypus.

When Rocky heard about the postponement, he remarked: "What's the difference? I can flatten him just as easily tomorrow."

The weights showed both boys are razor sharp. Rocky scaled 158½, a quarter pound less than Zale. This was about two pounds more than the champion expected to weigh.

Zale, who is quiet and well behaved at all times took the postponement in good part. He has had all kinds of ups and downs in his career and a few hours delay won't matter much to him.

In this respect, Zale is much like Gene Tunney, who not only could, but actually did go to sleep in the dressing room while waiting to fight Jack Dempsey.

Of course, Gene did not look on Jack as the killer everybody else did in those days. And it may be said with equal conviction that Zale doesn't think Graziano half the killer he's been painted.

Tonight's main bout was scheduled for 9 p. m. (EST). It will be broadcast over the Mutual network.

Robert Brownson Follows Chatlain At New London

NEW LONDON — Robert F. Brownson, former Ashland high school and college football star, has been named athletic coach at New London high school succeeding Ed Chatlain, it was announced today by the board of education.

Brownson, who will coach football, baseball and track has also signed as athletic director of the New London recreation park. He will begin his new duties immediately.

Chatlain, former Senior high school athletic great, submitted his resignation before the end of school but announcement was withheld until a successor was found. Chatlain is now serving as baseball supervisor of the Hot Stove league summer program.

Brownson comes to New London from a one-year tenure as freshman football coach at Ashland high school. He had previously been head coach at Jeromesville for three years. He is married and has two children.

Dorsey Maynard, assistant coach under Chatlain, will continue in that post.

Golf Meet Opens

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio's eighth annual senior golf tournament opened today over the long, exacting Scioto Country Club links. Allen Rankin, the defending champion, was tagged as the man to beat in the 36-hole event.

Cost-of-Living Problem Unsolved

Food Prices Continue to Creep Higher

NEW YORK—(AP)—Food prices continued their slow creeping advance this week. But buying also increased slightly, both in unit and dollar volume.

Observers said most city dwellers were paying 11 or 12 per cent more for the cost-of-living foods than a year ago. However, total payrolls were estimated to be 13 to 14 per cent higher than last year.

This furnished the money supply that kept retail food sales up 14 per cent in dollar volume for the chains and 7 per cent for the independents over the same period last year.

Retailers reported an increase in the sale of canned and processed meats, but a slight drop in buying of fresh meats, canned and frozen foods, fresh vegetables and fruits, fresh fish, poultry and dairy products sold steadily, along with soft drinks and beer.

Grocers' replacement buying kept wholesale food sales about 5 to 6 per cent above last year.

Wholesalers reported a seasonal pick-up in refined sugar sales. Fresh fruits and vegetables sold well and were plentiful. Demand increased for some canned foods.

Total production of food was up slightly. Canning operations gained. Butter and cheese production advanced over last week but were still below the same period last year.

Canners reported asparagus packs may be short of consumer demand this year, as bad weather cut the crop. Cherry prices jumped as much as five cents a pound above last year's figures in some areas.

Columbia river packers saw floods cut their output. Alaska salmon canners said fishermen would get higher pay this year and prices may advance this summer.

There was a divergence of views this week on the long-range prospects for food prices.

Nathan Cummings, chairman of Consolidated Grocers corporation, told the National American Wholesale Grocers' association meeting in Chicago that the United States should have ample supplies of basic foodstuffs this year. He forecast prices would decline.

Grant Gore, chief market analyst of Biddle Purchasing company of New York, told the same meeting: "Over-all retail food sales should run higher the last half of 1948; the over-all food price average for the third quarter should be a little higher than a year ago."

Higher average prices to growers, processors, wholesalers and retailers were forecast by the American Institute of Food Distribution. "Larger buying by consumers will bring sustained or higher prices, except for products that are over-produced, or over-packed, or over-bought," the institute said.

Ohio Shooters Go After 200 Target Title

VANDALIA—Ohio's top flight trapshooters go after the state's 62nd annual class championships in a 200-target 16-yard event today. A dozen other states also will be represented.

The state association has dumped $1,200 added money into the prize list. But the front line marksmen can win much more than that by playing the open optionals—that unique system by which the amateur marksmen bet on their own prowess.

The optional system is expensive. For the $9 shooter may fire for the not-too-big prizes offered in the regular shoot. But if he plays the optionals there's an added charge of $35. On top of that each must pay for eight boxes of 12 gauge shotgun shells.

DEFENDING CHAMP

Defending the No. 1 title today (Class A) is Joe Hiestand. The Hillsboro farmer who a few years ago broke 900 targets in a row from 16 yards in the grand American. And yesterday cracked 49 out of 50 in the difficult doubles race in which two targets are tossed at the same time.

Yesterday's 16-yard preliminary tuneup wound up in a deadlock between P. O. Harbage, former North American clay target champion from West Jefferson, O., and Floyd Kreischer, C. and O. railroader from Walbridge near Toledo. Each broke 100 in a row, a feat Harbage has performed numerous times, but the first for Kreischer—who has been shooting since 1912.

Five shooters tied in the 50-target handicap tuneup with 49 each. They were Bill Edlred of Cincinnati, former state champion, A. F. Kraft, Massillon policeman described as the "hottest shooter in the state," M. E. Hypes of West Alexandria, Tom Christy of Groveport and Earl Spitler of Union.

'Big' Field of 8 Listed At Belmont

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— A surprisingly large field of eight today seemed probable for Saturday's 80th running of the Belmont stakes.

There was still a great deal of time for owners to be scared off by the track-star named Citation, but it appeared that these horses would be on deck to challenge the Calumet comet: King Ranch's Better self, A. J. Sackett's Gasparilla, W. L. Brann's Escadru, C. V. Whitney's Vulcan's Forge, Glen Riddle Farm's Faraway, William Helis' Salmagundi and Belair Stud's Golden Light.

New Buck Captain

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Second Baseman Fred Taylor will captain Ohio State University's 1949 baseball team. Taylor, a sophomore from Zanesville, was elected captain by lettermen last night.

Pratt Beaten

AKRON —(INS)— Ralph Pratt, midwestern auto racing champion received his worse setback of the season last night in Akron's Rubber Bowl when he was defeated by Clevelander Jack Cabot.

Higher Steel price Likely

NEW YORK—(ANS)—The magazine Iron Age reported today that the price of steel may be higher next year and asserted that production will remain at peak levels during 1948

Barring coal strikes and labor difficulties the magazine said there was no immediate signs of a falling demand and production It predicted that when a falling does come, it will come suddenly and without warning

A survey made last week by the metalworking weekly found no truth in reports that the appliance field was failing but inventories were large and that sales were hard to make

COAL NEEDS STEEL

WASHINGTON.— (AP) — The coal industry needs 757 000 tons of steel during the next year, the National Coal Advisory council said today That amount of steel would provide for production of 620 000,000 tons of soft coal and 60 000 000 tons of anthracite, the council told the Interior department That is slightly above last year's output
